Well, I was recently asked by a very good friend "what is it that you do?". He didn't know and was asking because he was trying to find out what to do with his life and had thought that I might have some answers. The first question was "what are you?". Answer: Designer of text based and instant messaging based UIs. 2nd Question: "And what does that mean?". Answer: "The title says it all". The point is that I wasn't able to really explain to him what I do in a very simple manner so I decided to post what I do on the internet for everyone to read and think about. Getting back to the original question, what does my friend do? He studied Computer Engineering and now works for a very well known software company. He designs both complex and simple software as well as user interfaces. His work is based on his interest in staying up to date with everything that is new and interesting and his love for the above mentioned title. Some say that he is a bit "solar-powered" but that is not what matters. The important part is that he is interested in what is new, right now, right here. The only question was, why him?

hanging off of it, the physics won't respond to the wall, or your remote, making the game just a bit harder. The game's official forum features a pic of the official tagline: "One more to go." No, but that's about all that's been revealed about Gears of War 4 so far -- the title is most likely Gears 4. But, considering that the console and PC version of the game was released last year, it's not hard to imagine that the "One more" is something closer to "One more console and PC title in this series to come." [Thanks, 'Ars Technica' and AGB] The executive producer on Titanfall has revealed that a new game from Respawn Entertainment is planned for Android. Speaking with Gamespot, Respawn's Vince Zampella stated that the Titanfall studio had been discussing an Android game, before the Xbox One blockbuster was announced. "We're still in the process of building the Android version," he said. "We've been building up the Android version for a while -- since Titanfall was announced". Neurons in the dorsal lateral geniculate nucleus (LGN) of macaque monkeys were recorded and filled intracellularly following tracer injections in the superior colliculus. The collicular cortex, as well as the dorsolateral part of the superficial layers of the LGN, contained mainly magnocellular neurons. Ipsilateral pyramidal cells were also recorded in the deep layers, and these were exclusively magnocellular. A small proportion of the pyramidal cells in these two cell classes were also parvocellular. The magnocellular neurons could be further divided into large or small cells based on soma size.
